AREA'S LATEST SHOPPING CENTER—Plans for a spacious new shopping center in Rolling Hills Plaza were announced this week by developers of the $15,000,000 project. Center, which will be officially opened March 15, will cover 36 acres and will house more than 40 distinct business houses.

Unusual features of the project include a modern supervised child care center, a fun and family center with tables and chairs for the tired shopper, and a modern restaurant. Already situated the site of the new center is a large Foods Co. market, a car wash and service station.

DINNER HOSTS Entertaining localites at dinner at The Polynesian Restaurant recently were Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Way.

Announce Inauguration of $15,000,000 Shopping Center for Rolling Hills Area

At a recent inaugural luncheon at the Plush Horse in Redondo Beach, future plans for a new $15,000,000 shopping center called Rolling Hills Plaza were revealed by the developers, James Bower and Albert Levitt of Jefferson, Inc.

ments, including department stores, specialty shops and service stores, as well as a Foods Co. super-market and a modern supervised child-care center. The general architectural plan calls for a fully landscaped fun and family center accented with shade trees, kiosks, canopied wayside tables and chairs for the tired shopper, and a first-class restaurant.

Embracing a total of more than 36 acres, the new center ultimately will house more than 40 retail establishments, including department stores, specialty shops and service stores, as well as a Foods Co. super-market and a modern supervised child-care center. The general architectural plan calls for a fully landscaped fun and family center accented with shade trees, kiosks, canopied wayside tables and chairs for the tired shopper, and a first-class restaurant.

Defer Official Opening Although a grand opening has been deferred until March 15, many merchants in the new deluxe center will be moving in and open for business prior to that time. These include Beck's Little Folks, a store specializing in high-style for youngsters; Be-Jac's, a gift shop; a new savings and loan organization; Quality Shoes, featuring brand news like Florsheim as well as a complete stock of casual and play shoes; Florence Yardage, long an established retail name in the area; Browne Enterprises, a unique beauty shop, specializing in do-it-yourself beauty equipment; House of Shan-

Victor, offering custom-made wedding gowns and party costumes; and Dr. Arthur W. Overby, a Torrance resident and an optometrist. Already established on the site at Crenshaw Blvd. and Pacific Coast Hwy. in Torrance is a Foods Co. market as well as the Rolling Hills Car Wash and a new Mobilgas service station. The next few months will see the addition of a new Newberry store, complete with garden shop, and a Thrifty Drug Store, plus numerous other specialty and service shops.

Open House for Jr. Achievement Week Scheduled

Private enterprise as run by "junior" junior executives will be on display for community inspection in the Southwest District this week Jan. 29, to Feb. 4, as 300 teenagers from 14 high schools participate in the annual Junior Achievement Week.

The youthful businessmen and women from the Centinela Valley area are operating 24 miniature companies in Junior Achievement projects which were started at the beginning of the school year.

Products of these companies, manufacturing techniques and sales presentations will be unveiled for public approval at the Junior Achievement Business Center, 831 North Prairie Ave., Hawthorne, during the "open house" portion of Junior Achievement Week.

LEADS FIELD

Plaster leads the field by permitting reductions of as much as 25% in the time needed to complete an industrial structure, the Southern California Plastering Institute points out.

center with many points of visual interest as well as customer comfort.

Outlining the leasing program, leasing agent Neil Howard of Redondo Beach stressed the care with which each lessee is being selected in order to create a complete, well-rounded center where everybody's needs will be satisfied with just one shopping trip.

In line with a strong community program, Adland, a local advertising agency, has been selected to manage and coordinate promotion for the newly created Rolling Hills Merchants' Association. Mrs. Dorothy Mewborn is in charge of the account.

Family Oriented At the luncheon, the agency delineated a "family and fun" oriented program for Rolling Hills Plaza. "We must create such interest in the Plaza that people will actually want to shop there in order to find out what new exciting things are happening every week," Mrs. Mewborn said. "We are incorporating a fun-loving, flower-eating donkey as our symbol of family fun, and we are looking forward to the day next summer when we can offer the children donkey rides as a regular part of our program. We are particularly pleased to be able to announce a child care center, because we feel that shopping with small children in constant attendance makes a young woman old in the short space of a few hours."

Rolling Hills Plaza's emphasis on becoming a "family center" derives primarily from the fact that the Torrance area has more children under six than any other similar geographic area in the country.

Stores are complete with acoustical tile and serene, inviting muted hi-fi music. With a big, convenient parking area, the new merchants have set as their joint goal a new South Bay high in friendly, competent service.

Merchants attending the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Florence of Florence Yardage; Mrs. Beck of Beck's Little Folks; Andrew D. Browne of Browne Enterprises; Jake Agoado of Be-Jac's, Les Silverstein of Quality Shoes; Mrs. McNary and Mrs. Sutton of the House of Shan Victor; Ron Hardin of Rollings Hills Plaza Car Wash, and Wade Johnson of the Mobilgas station. Ben Schwartz of Foods Co. was present as a special guest.
